DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Newly submitted claim 8 is directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: Claim 8 is a product by process claim drawn to a known cholesterol-reducing agent and is treated as a compound claim. Due to this, the claim 8 is drawn to a different type of invention not originally presented.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claim 8 is withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

2. This application was filed 3/17/2005 and is a 371 of PCT/JP03/11643 (9/11/2003) which claims priority to JP 2002-275015 (9/11/2002). Claim 8 is withdrawn from consideration. Claims 1-7 are before the Examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

Art Unit: 1625

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. The rejection of claims 1-5 and 7 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b,a) as being anticipated by Ikeda (US Patent 5939552), Nagamatsu (1999), Chen (US Patent 6835838) and Onishi (US Patent #6946557), is upheld. Ikeda and Nagamatsu are 102(b) references. Chen and Onishi are 102(a) references.

Ikeda teaches simulated moving bed chromatographic process (see abstract) for the resolution of the instant compound (col 4 line 40) using a mixed solvent (column 6 lines 46-47) and silica gel of a certain particle size (col 6 lines 10-30). Nagamatsu teaches the same process (see abstract,, pages 55, 56, 58). Onishi teaches the same process (see column 3 line 15, col 4 line 10, col 6 lines 33-35, col 7 line 30, col 8 line 14). Chen teaches the same process using HPLC: Chiralpak AD; eluent, hexane/I-PrOH see col 17 line 45). These references fully teach the instant invention.

Applicant's argue that the prior art does not teach the separation of epimers or the use of silica gel as packing material.

Optical resolution of a racemic mixture separates one specific compound (one epimer) from a mixture of compounds (epimers). The art teaches silica gel as the packing material. The silica gel is the base for another compound (polysaccharide ester derivative and/or polysaccharide carbamate derivative, but the instant claims do not differ silica gel alone from silica gel as an inorganic base. Further applicant's argue that the prior art of record separates different enantiomers from the instantly claimed epimers. However, separation of a stereospecific compound from a mixture of enantiomers includes the separation of the instantly claimed epimers.

The rejection is maintained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. The rejection of claim 6 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as stated in paper dated 3/30/2006 is maintained for reasons of record. As above, applicant argues that the optical resolution of a racemic mixture is different from the instantly claimed separation of epimers. However, the separation between epimers or racemers of a particular stereospecific compound is the same process. The use of silica gel as a base for a polysaccharide ester derivative is not excluded from the instant claims. The rejection is maintained.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
